The Office for Civil Rights (OCR) has the statutory responsibility to ensure that agencies that receive federal financial assistance from the U.S. Department of Justice are not engaged in prohibited discrimination. OCR ensures that no person, based on race, national origin, color, sex, religion, disability, or age is excluded from participation in, denied the benefits of, subjected to discrimination under, or denied employment in connection with any activity, program, or service receiving federal assistance. The primary objective in accomplishing this mission is to secure prompt and full compliance with all civil rights laws and regulations so that needed federal financial assistance may commence or continue.
